

The Courier-Mail marks 75 years

Queensland State Archives acknowledges The Courier-Mail's 75th anniversary in 2008.

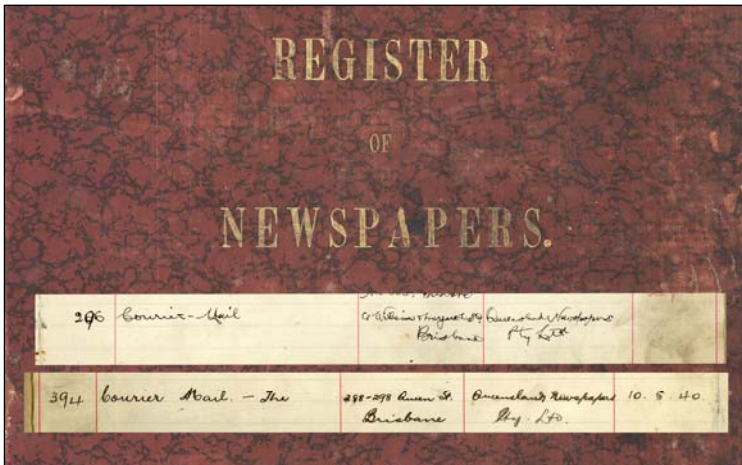

Queensland's major daily newspaper was first published on 28 August 1933 with the merger of The Brisbane Courier (founded as The Moreton Bay Courier in 1846) and The Daily Mail (established in 1903).

Now owned by News Corporation, The Courier-Mail is published in Brisbane and distributed statewide and beyond.

The last traditional broadsheet edition of The Courier-Mail was published on Saturday, 11 March 2006, and the first 'compact' edition on Monday, 13 March 2006.

Want to know more? See the Courier-Mail's NewsSpace website.

Composite image: Courier-Mail entry in Register of Newspapers, 10 May 1940.

Queensland State Archives Item ID281619